TrailPeople is a start-up practice building on my 23 years of prior experience leading projects throughout California. This includes the past 7 years as a Principal of Alta Planning + Design; 8 years as owner/principal of LandPeople (a prior start-up acquired by and merged with Alta in 2008), and 8 years as Planning Manager or Senior Planner for the Midpeninsula Regional Open Space District in Los Altos.

TrailPeople offers the opportunity to work on interesting and challenging projects in scenic locales; socially and environmentally beneficial work; broad involvement in marketing and project efforts; and unequalled opportunity to learn, take on responsibilities and increase earnings accordingly.

Planning and Design Internship Description

The position requires academic, personal and professional involvement (including at least one year of prior professional experience) in planning and design of bicycle and pedestrian facilities, complete streets, and trails for recreation and transportation, such as:

- Technical report writing and research
- Regional and site mapping and analysis (usually GIS)
- Site and project design at master plan, preliminary design and construction document stages (usually CAD)
- Graphic illustration including photosims, 3D models, plans, cross-sections, elevations
- Support of public and stakeholder outreach, engagement, and input

Requires solid capability in at least some of the following platforms:

- MS Office suite
- Arc GIS
- AutoCAD
- Adobe Illustrator and Photoshop
- Sketchup

Prefer graduate student with undergraduate degree and/or pending masters degree in Landscape Architecture, City and Regional Planning, Civil or Traffic Engineering or related field.

At least one year work experience in consulting firm or public agency using the skills and tools outlined above is required.
